

Practical English Phonetics
Advanced Course

	with a mistake	to be corrected
p.53	Labialized consonants before the bilabial sonorant [w]:	Consonants labialized before the bilabial sonorant [w] within a word or at a word juncture:
p.57	(rapid colloquial speech)	(informal casual)
p. 167, line 5	nouns (often in the plural) numeral	nouns (often in the plural) and numerals –
p. 176, line 17	to regard the Low Head as the weakened variant	to regard the Low Head as a weakened variant
p. 176, footnote	requires some higher level for ...	requires a somewhat higher level for ...
p. 185	The initial points of all the stressed syllables most typically take the same level ...	The initial pitch point of each stressed syllable in the head is typically on the same level ...
p. 197, line 3	differ in their expressiveness both from the point of view of form and meaning.	differ in their expressiveness from the point of view of the form and the meaning.
p.224	III. Inact the following situations using the familiar types of in tonation patterns.	III. Inact the following situations using the familiar types of intonation patterns.
p. 363	Fricative (constrictive) – the two articulators come close together, forming a structure through which the air can escape,	Fricative (constrictive) – the two articulators come close together, forming a stricture through which the air can escape,